Concept Statement

The adaptive reuse renovation of this 30,600 sq ft building aims to seamlessly blend the natural world with modern functionality, creating a harmonious environment that embodies the essence of Biome and Elemental design. The building's two distinct levels will offer unique experiences: the ground floor will serve as a vibrant commercial hub, where shops and public areas evoke a sense of connection with nature through the integration of organic materials like wood and stone, along with fluid, water-inspired elements that encourage relaxation and exploration.

On the second level, a series of thoughtfully curated Airbnb suites will provide a sanctuary that merges the comfort of home with the serenity of nature. Earth tones and a nature-inspired color palette will create warm, inviting spaces that reflect the beauty of the natural world. By utilizing sustainable materials and innovative design techniques, this project will breathe new life into an existing structure, offering an immersive experience that aligns with the rhythms of the natural environment and provides a tranquil retreat within the heart of the city.

AirBNB Inspiration

Research: AirBNB’s are meant to be used as a destination away from home with amenities that help you feel comfortable and relaxed. It’s purpose it to foster and create a sense of belonging in a world where anyone can feel at home anywhere.

1 An open concept with earthy and warm tones to welcome everyone

2 Earthy tones with space to add an interesting wallpaper

3 An open space that's geared more towards a coastal theme

AirBNB Inspiration

Research: AirBNB’s are usually meant for short term stays but can also be used for longer stays that are over 30 days. The rentals include homes, apartments, condos, and destination stays anywhere in the world. They also have a variety of iconic spaces that they turn into experiences where people can explore, such as a Polly Pocket house, Up house, Barbie house, etc.

4 A living room that represents a more woodsy and rustic aesthetic for a forest themed room

5 Another open living room that represents more natural tones blended together

Adaptive Reuse Buildings

Adaptive reuse buildings is making a new purpose for an existing structure. By taking a older or unused building, it creates an opportunity to create a new space without using unnecessary materials to construct a new building. This prolongs the buildings life as well as reduce the amount of waste and harmful emissions.

Adaptive Reuse Buildings

There are a few factors that are considered when thinking about adaptive reuse buildings. Such as:

- ~ Building condition
- ~ Government regulations
- ~ Materials value

These factors can help to identify if it is worth it to reuse a building or if it's even possible to modify a building to historic and government regulations.
